

Danny Blue – Big Beat Entertainment

Danny has over 30 years experience in adult themed comedy and he knows to be rude but not crude.

Totally uninhibited and when he is holding the microphone, his political correctness is right out of the window. His show includes Sex, Race, Gender, the wife, the mother-in-law, the police and just about every subject is covered that would offend the politically correct of this planet.

Danny Blue started his career in adult comedy over 30 years ago. Danny's first time on stage as a comedian was to a packed house at a comedy club in Surrey. Since that night, he hasn't looked back.

"I love stand-up", Danny says, "I love the old main stream type of comedy, Politically incorrect, postcard type of humour, putting words in a sequence to make the audience shudder into laughter and disbelief that I have actually just said that".

Never afraid to shock the audience and is known for his repertoire of quick fire one-liners. Danny has appeared on many television shows and will be the subject of a documentary due out later this year. Danny Blue The Politically Incorrect comedian and Adult Humourist.

Warning:- Politically incorrect and suitable for aged 18 & above.
