

RPM Bike Trials Display Team - Big Beat Entertainment

As the saying goes ...and now for something completely different! This brilliant bike trials display team will make a real statement at your event.

RPM is a bike trials display team, formed from some of the UK's most experienced demonstration riders with over 20 years' experience. Performing at all manner of shows, expos, schools, village fetes, international music festivals to stunt performances on Hollywood film sets, gala events and media appearances. The team members have worked with some of the biggest brands in the world including Redbull, Land Rover, Glastonbury Festival and Barclays.

They provide amazing displays of bike trials and free runner performances for any type of event or function, be it entertaining at private and corporate events, wowing crowds at international music festivals to working with schools and other educational establishments to promote cycling and healthy living.

The team bring a complete show package including specially designed demonstration rigs, PA, music and live commentary, to create exciting attractions and displays for any type of event, product launch, show or performance.
